

THE TRAGEDIE
OF
RICHARD
THE THIRD.

Now are our browes bound with vici
Our bruised armes hung vp for monu
Our sterne alarums chang'd to merry
Our dreadfull marches to delightfull
Grim-visagde war, hath smoothd his
And now insted of mounting barbed
To fright the soules of fearefull aduer
He capers nimble in a Ladies chamb
To the laciuous pleasing of a loue,
But I that am not sharpe of sportiue
Nor made to court an amorous look
I that am rudely stampd, and want lou
To strut before a wanton ambling N
I that am curtaild of this faire propor
Cheated of feature by dissembling na
Deform'd, vnfinisht sent before my t
Into this breathing world halfe made
And that so lamely and vnfashionabl
That dogs barke at me as I halt at the
Why I in this weake piping time of
Haue no delight to passe away the t
Vnlesse to spie my shadow in the su
And descant one mine owne deformit
And therefore since I cannot proue a
To entertaine these faire well spoken
I am determin'd to proue a villaine,
And hare the Idle pleasures of these
Plots haue I layd, inductions danger

Enter Richard Duke of Gloucester

NOW is the winter of discorde
Made glorious sommer by the sunne
And all the cloudes that looke like frowne
In the deepe bosome of the moon
Now are our browes bound with vici
Our bruised armes hung vp for monu
Our sterne alarums chang'd to merry
Our dreadfull marches to delightfull
Grim-visagde war, hath smoothd his
And now insted of mounting barbed
To fright the soules of fearefull aduer
He capers nimble in a Ladies chamb
To the laciuous pleasing of a loue,
But I that am not sharpe of sportiue
Nor made to court an amorous look
I that am rudely stampd, and want lou
To strut before a wanton ambling N
I that am curtaild of this faire propor
Cheated of feature by dissembling na
Deform'd, vnfinisht sent before my t
Into this breathing world halfe made
And that so lamely and vnfashionabl
That dogs barke at me as I halt at the
Why I in this weake piping time of
Haue no delight to passe away the t
Vnlesse to spie my shadow in the su
And descant one mine owne deformit
And therefore since I cannot proue a
To entertaine these faire well spoken
I am determin'd to proue a villaine,
And hare the Idle pleasures of these
Plots haue I layd, inductions danger